

Cleaning Up Leaves Big Job

Service Provided by City As Part of Regular Program Of Street Maintenance Here

"I think that I shall never see a poem lovely as a tree."

There is some doubt now that everyone agrees with this gem from the pen of Joyce Kilmer.

But that same old feeling comes here and everywhere with the change of seasons.

Most residents of Washington C. H. sum up their feeling about trees with this remark: "They are beautiful but o-h-h those leaves."

There's always help available from the city street department to get the pesky things taken away. But the job of getting them off the lawn usually falls to the member of the household with the poorest excuses.

Take a word of advice from an expert leaf remover, Clyde Smith, superintendent of streets, and you'll be in a better mood for the Halloween season, which goes with the leaves like cider.

"Be patient," Smith says.

Hauled to Fill
He's hauled enough nuisances to a "fill" on the north end of Fayette Street to shade the entire city on its worst summer day.

Today he had three trucks on the job. A crew of seven or eight was engaged in picking up leaves on the city's streets.

"Those Elm trees on Rawlings Street give us the most trouble," Smith said. He said Elm trees shed a small leaf which is hard to shovel, especially when it is dry.

"Most of the trees here in town are maple," Smith said.

Even maple leaves are difficult to pick up when they are dry. They take up room in the city's trucks and blow away when workers try to shovel them.

Smith, who doesn't describe himself as a true nature lover, said he thinks the leaves are falling a little slower than usual this year.

The fact that the weatherman here has only reported one stiff frost may have something to do with this occurrence in nature.

If a good freeze came, the remaining leaves might come down a little quicker.

Smith said it would probably take his crew another three weeks or so to finish the pick-up.

His gang takes the town by streets and doesn't make it a practice to interrupt the schedule to pick up the leaves in front of individual homes following requests of owners.

Meanwhile, those leaves continue to pile up.

And, frankly, most people will hate to see them go. They don't like the barren, naked look which is coming to the trees — a sign that winter is just around the corner.

Cost of picking up and removing the leaves is carried as a regular street department expense. Pay for the men runs between $300 and $350 a week.

Since men employed in collecting the leaves work for the street department, they are frequently taken off the leaf job to work on streets. For this reason it is impossible to determine the exact cost of removing the leaves.

City Manager W. W. Hill explained that the clean-up of the leaves is merely a part of the service provided by the city for its residents.

Junk Car Business Worries Columbus

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25 — (P) — The Columbus police department is in the junk automobile business, but headaches far outweigh profits.

About 75 worthless cars are being held by police. Some were abandoned, some towed in after accidents or for overtime parking.

The owners don't want to pay towing and storage charges, and police can't sell them under state loan laws if a lien or mortgage is held, as is true in many cases. Police Chief Frank L. Harrison has asked the city attorney's office how he can dispose of the cars legally.

Executioners Are Busy Again In Spy-Conscious East Europe

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 25 — (P) — The executioner stalks through spy-conscious Communist eastern Europe these days.

In a single day three countries — Romania, Hungary and Czechoslovakia — announced yesterday they had executed or sentenced to death 15 persons for espionage or other subversive activities.

More than a score of other persons were sentenced to prison terms ranging up to life.

And nobody knew how many trials were going on in secret with their verdicts not yet announced. Hungary's hangman executed four persons.

Two of them, Lieut. Gen. Gyorgi Palfy, formerly Hungary's highest ranking army officer, and Police Col. Bela Korondy, were co-defendants of the late Laszlo

AUTUMN MAY BRING its outdoor beauties and colorful foliage, but to hundreds of men, women and children in Washington C. H. it also brings aching backs and sore muscles as they rake up the fallen leaves and sweep them to the curb for the city trucks and crews to gather up. (Record-Herald photo)

Farmer Goes Berserk; Ten Shot on Rampage

WATERFORD, Mich., Oct. 25 — (P) — A crazed, middle-aged farmer shot up two taverns last night, then killed himself after wounding ten persons.

On a mad spree with a shotgun Joe Runyon, 57, terrorized this sleepy little resort village in a begrudging farewell to the world.

Two of his victims, both women, were wounded critically.

Tramping back and forth across a street, Runyon fired seven or eight charges from a 12-gauge shotgun through windows of the two taverns, witnesses said.

At the end of a violent 10 or 12 minutes, he walked a short distance up the street and fired a final charge through his own chest.

This was the last in a series of rapid reloadings. Runyon's gun was a single-shot weapon.

Reported in critical condition today at Pontiac General Hospital were Mrs. Irene Zurawski, 37, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Pesciuk, 50.

It was at the Zurawski family's small bar where Runyon made one attack.

Six persons were wounded there and another four at the bar of the Waterford Hotel across the street before Runyon shambled away to kill himself.

Tragedy Recalled

The shootings recalled the recent Camden, N. J., mass killing of 13 persons by Howard Unruh, young former service man who later was found insane.

Runyon, a former auto factory worker in nearby Pontiac, lived alone on a farm he was said to have bought a year ago.

Little was known of him, but evidently things had gone wrong recently and he had become despondent.

At his tidy farm house was found a note saying: "Take over, Joe. Dad's quit work. (Obscenity) 'em all."

There was also a detailed list of Runyon's possessions.

Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George Taylor said the note apparently was meant for Runyon's son, Joe, Jr., a Pontiac resident.

Runyon, a stocky man of medium height, was known as a quiet person. He had his daily beer in town and peddled his farm crops here.

He began his rampage shortly before 8:30 P. M. Accounts of witnesses varied, but it was established that he walked from one bar to the other, standing at the windows to fire blasts inside.

Patrons scrambled in fright. Some dropped to the floor. A television program was being broadcast.

Mrs. Zurawski was shot in the neck and face. Her mother-in-law was wounded in the face and chest. The latter's son, Stanley Zurawski, 29, was shot in the left arm.

Minister Is Cursed

The Rev. Fr. Frederick A. Delaney, pastor of Our Lady of Lakes Parish in Waterford, was driving past the hotel. He saw Runyon holding the gun at a window.

"I heard a shot," he said. "I think I said 'stop, you crazy fool.' He turned around and started cursing me. Then people started running in all directions out of the hotel."

As alarm swept the town, ambulances sped the ten miles to Pontiac with the injured.

Earlier Runyon had spoken to some of his victims, including Zurawski.

"He told me he had plenty of trouble," Zurawski said. "He also told me 'if a man feels like he's going to die in his old age, he might just as well take a few people along with him.'"

Mrs. Etta Fisher, 60, grey-haired day bartender at the hotel, said that shortly before the shootings Runyon had complained that "three of my horses died and I lost $250."

Seated at a table, Mrs. Fisher escaped injury. At the first shot she thought "a lamp exploded."

The hotel night bartender, Kenneth Friesner, 39, was wounded in the face and neck. He knew Runyon and regarded the farmer as "a nice fellow and the kind of person you liked."

LEVY CAMPAIGN PLANNED

40 Organizations Back Hospital Fund Program

The message of why a one-mill levy is needed to set the new Fayette County Memorial Hospital off to a good financial start was in the hands of some 40 organizations in the county today.

Representatives of the organizations met Monday night in the Fayette County Probate Court to hear an explanation of the proposed levy.

Meanwhile, Monday the Fayette County commissioners clarified any doubts as to how funds raised by the levy will be spent by them.

The commissioners went on record with an official resolution stipulating that the money derived from the levy will be used solely for maintenance and other hospital expenses.

The official ballot on which residents will vote for or against the proposed levy in the November 8 election makes no mention as to the specific use for funds raised by the levy.

Educational Program Launched

For this reason, an extensive education program—aimed at getting the support of voters in the general election—has been launched in the county.

The meeting Monday night of representatives of some 40 fraternal and civic organizations was the biggest of its kind held in connection with the educational campaign as yet.

Miss Christine Evans, consultant and hospital administrator for the new hospital, and Sam Parrett, a member of the administrative board for the hospital, explained the proposed levy. They were assisted by George Campbell, also a member of the administrative board.

Miss Evans emphasized the need of getting the hospital off to a good financial start. She said it takes about three years to establish a hospital in community.

She said a deficit of about $26,000 is anticipated the first year. The one-mill levy will bring in approximately $40,000. She said the eventual aim is to make the hospital self-supporting.

Money raised by the levy will cover the deficit, if it occurs, help meet other expenses and allow the hospital to buy certain equipment not provided for in earlier estimates.

Morrow Speaks for Levy

Homer Morrow, president of the Fayette County Trustees and Clerks Association, argued in favor of the levy in an impromptu speech before the representatives.

Morrow said the people of Fayette County had committed themselves to the levy when they raised the $630,000 for the construction of the hospital.

The trustees' association head said residents of the county had to insure the hospital's success during its first few "tough" years so that their investment would be protected.

Representatives of the various organizations, carried the information about the levy to their respective groups.

And a resolution of the county commissioners helped back up their educational campaign. The resolution, passed Monday, reads as follows:

"Inasmuch as it was not possible under the law to stipulate that the one-mill levy to be voted on Nov. 8, 1949, was to be used for the maintenance and other expenses of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital, we hereby pledge ourselves so long as we have authority, to use every dollar of the proposed levy for the maintenance and other expenses of said hospital."

Grim World Outlook Given at Rotary Ann Dinner

THIS INTERESTING HALLOWEEN DISPLAY (above) greeted those attending the Rotary Ann dinner. The display won second prize in the annual Circleville Pumpkin show. It was prepared by the Mt. Pleasant Church at Kinderhook and borrowed for use at the Rotary party here by the decorating committee headed by Ansel Kirkpatrick. (Record-Herald photo)

More than 150 people formed an audience at the Country Club Monday night which listened to a message, startling in its outlook, relative to European trends and their counterparts in this country.

The occasion was the annual fall dinner party given by Rotarians for their Anns and guests.

The speaker was Dr. Samuel D. Marble, president of Wilmington College, a noted educator and one of the youngest college presidents in the United States.

Dr. Marble returned from Europe recently where he had made an extended stay. His talk was based on his observations after close contact with many people including scores of families in their homes in all walks of life. He visited eleven different European countries.

The speaker was introduced by Colin Campbell, past district governor and a member of the October program committee.

Dr. Marble stated that he, like practically everyone else, usually viewed with some question the dangers of opinions voiced by people returning from a vacation trip to Europe. He was giving his opinions however, he stated, after a rather careful and thoughtful study of conditions and of public thinking he had found.

He said that he had approached this study with a view to trying to determine which way the people of these foreign countries were heading with reference to tendencies toward government, religion and education.

Government Paternalism

His conclusions were expressed as not being very hopeful. He found most of those affected as looking forward to more and more government control and seemingly wanting it because of their feeling that their own individual efforts were comparatively helpless; their fears made them look to statism for protection.

There could be no mistaking the sincerity or the thoughtfulness behind the speaker's words. He was giving his impressions quietly, without any attempt at oratory or eloquence. Using simple and direct language his remarks seemed almost as though he was thinking out loud.

Dr. Marble declared that while viewing some of the problems of Europe, a careful observer in talking to people there was compelled to think as much about what is happening in our own country, the beginning of our drift into a similar point of view as to giving up our own freedom and seeking a paternalistic government with its promises to provide everything for us.

Europe Looks to U. S.

"European countries," he said, "are looking to us with a little hope mingled with fear and some distrust. They would like to see us provide the leadership toward a way out of this dilemma. The thinkers of those countries are not looking to us so much for material things, rather they are wondering if we can furnish the inspiration which will help them change their attitude and their thinking in their present drift toward complete dependence on government."

"At present," he said, "there is a marked tendency for European people, through fear of war and other worries, to attempt to solve their problems entirely through the channel of government and there is every evidence that this type of solution will be expanded."

Touching on the matter of Socialized Medicine in England, he declared, "although British medical practitioners disagree with Socialized Medicine, and feel that medical service has declined in value as a result, people over

Secretary, Bonds and Cash Missing

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25 — (P) — The whereabouts of Mrs. Violet V. Bellous, former secretary to millionaire boat builder Gar Wood, remained a mystery today and a circuit judge said she "is hiding from the court."

Judge George E. Holt ordered the 38-foot cruiser, Bolero, owned by C. M. Bellous, Sr., husband of the former secretary, turned over to the court receiver.

Th judge's order holds that the craft was bought with the proceeds of ten $1,000 City of Miami bonds which Wood claims were "abstracted" from his safety deposit box in the Mercantile National Bank of Miami Beach.

The order was issued after records of the Florida National Bank in Miami showed that Bellous cashed the bonds which his wife said she had placed in her own safety deposit box.

Mrs. Bellous disappeared after Wood filed a suit for recovery of twenty bonds, $5,000 cash and a title to a $100,000 home.

Judge Holt also postponed "until further order of court" the preliminary inquiry to which Wood had been called to testify in Detroit on Oct. 31.

Judge Holt told Mrs. Bellous' attorney that the former secretary "is hiding from the court."

He said in his order that she has filed no pleadings and therefore would have nothing about which to question Wood and could not demand his appearance until she had made herself available.

The attorney, M. H. Rosenhouse, told the court he did not know the whereabouts of Mrs. Bellous or of the missing bonds and cash. He added that he would prepare an answer to Wood's suit.

"Until such time as Mrs. Bellous makes herself available to the courts, her stand in this matter is questionable," Judge Holt said.

At a pre-trial interrogation last week in another case, Mrs. Bellous testified that Wood promised her $50,000 down and another $50,000 if she would divorce her husband. She said Wood was in Las Vegas, Nev., when she obtained the divorce in August, 1938. The Bellous were remarried in Memphis, Tenn., in August 1949. Wood is a widower.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—(AP)—This week the U. S. government begins the job of helping re-arm western Europe. This briefly explains it.

First, the Senate approved our joining the Atlantic Pact, made up of 12 nations: U. S., Canada, Portugal, Iceland, Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway and Denmark.

They agreed to help defend one another from attack. Russia wasn't mentioned as the possible attacker but Russia was meant.

But if the Atlantic Pact countries Russia were going to stand off, if only for a while, a Russian attack, they said they needed arms from us.

Three countries not near Russia — Canada, Portugal, Iceland — did not ask help. The other eight did: Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark.

Then Congress voted $1,000,000,000 to supply them arms. Actually, they will receive from us arms worth about $1,450,000,000. This is why:

We'll send them three kinds of military equipment: excess stuff, reserve stuff, and brand new equipment.

1. Excess — Now we have on hand a number of items of military equipment over and above what our military planners think we may ever need, even in case of excess material. We'll send some war. This is considered unneeded, of that.

But — Congress said we cannot send abroad excess equipment which, altogether, originally cost more than $450,000,000. (That same excess equipment, if made now, might cost double the $450,000,000, when it was made.)

We'll send Europe the $450,000,000 in excess equipment allowed by Congress. This, added to the total arms help to Europe to around $1,450,000,000.

2. Reserve stuff — We have a lot of equipment which our on hand now, but stored away, military planners figure we'll need now.

In time of war, but don't need it. We'll send some of that reserve to Europe. But we'll have to replace it. Some of the $1,000,000,000 voted by Congress will be used to have brand new reserve material manufactured and kept in this country.

3. Brand new material — Some of the equipment we'll send Europe will be brand new. We'll have to get that made. The rest of the $1,000,000,000 fund will be used for that.

This week state department people start talking with representatives of those eight countries which need arms. They'll talk here in Washington and draw up agreements.

The eight must agree to a number of things, under the law passed by Congress, before we can send them arms. For example:

1. That they'll use our arms in accordance with the terms of the law.

2. That they won't hand over any of our arms to another country, without our permission.

3. That they'll keep secret anything we send them — in cases where we want secrecy. Secretary of Defense Johnson says western European country with a Communist in its cabinet will get no arms aid or military secrets.

4. That in turn they'll furnish us — or any of the eight — such assistance as we or they require. For example: they might want Belgium to give us certain kinds of raw material in return for our help.

When the agreements are signed here, we'll send teams of American political, economic and military experts to each of the other eight countries. There, with the European experts, they'll work out in detail what each country needs

Holiday Friday For All Schools

Teachers Confab Gives 4,200 Pupils Day Off

Approximately 4,200 schoolgoers in Fayette County will enjoy a four-day schedule this week-Friday is a holiday.

All the city and county schools will close October 28 to enable teachers and administrators to attend a regional meeting in Columbus on Friday.

"Education-For What?" is the theme of the 78th meeting of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association, which includes 22 counties in this section of Ohio.

City Supt. of Schools Stephen C. Brown said that 72 teachers from the city school system would probably attend the session.

About 84 teachers will represent the county schools at the convention, according to County Supt. of Schools William J. Hilly.

Over 8,000 Attending

The COTA confab, because it includes large cities like Columbus, Dayton and Springfield, will be one of the largest group meetings in the state, said Hilly.

Asked for an estimate of the attendance, he offered over eight thousand as an approximate figure. COTA is one of six regional associations which comprise the statewide Ohio Educational Association.

Before the school teachers and administrators separate to attend 31 separate departmental meetings in their particular fields, a general assembly will be held Friday morning in the Coliseum.

An address on "Raising Our Professional Horizons" will be given by Dr. Harold C. Hunt, general superintendent of schools in Chicago.

The second featured speaker at the morning session will be Miss Lisa Sergio, talking on "A World's-Eye View of Ourselves." Miss Sergio is a radio commentator under the Italy of Mussolini, field to the U. S. when her anti-Fascist views put her life in danger.

Debate Scheduled

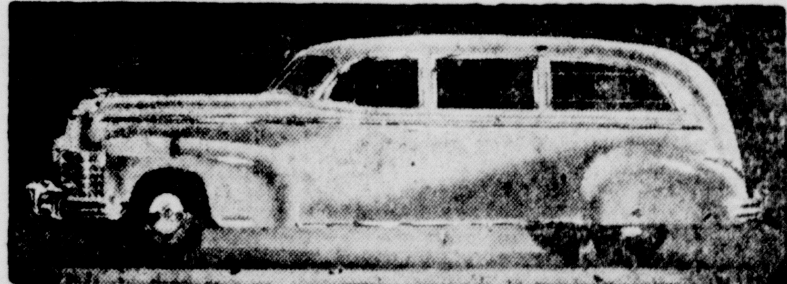

At the evening general session Friday, at Memorial Hall, there will be a debate on "Education-For What?"

Frank Meyer, a social philosopher, writer, lecturer and critic, or wants and what we can spend. The talks will take weeks; they are being figured on to be finished by Dec. 1. So a real flow of arms to Europe may not start before Jan. 1.

In addition to the $1,000,000,000 for Europe, Congress voted $314,010,000,000 in help for Greece, Turkey, Iran, Korea, the Philippines.

Our Duty Toward Our New County Hospital

Our county officials and the hospital board, which has charge of future operations of the new Fayette County Memorial Hospital, tell us we will need a one-mill levy for three years to safeguard the new institution in its opening years.

In other words, the figures produced by the officials and the board through the administrator who will take charge, show that this amount sought will be needed to pull the new institution through the tough siege of its early years.

After that, they say that there is every reason to believe it can become self-supporting. Miss Evans, the administrator, says she is confident such a result can be achieved.

It would seem to be utter folly for this county to provide a fine, new, completely modern hospital with an investment of approximately $625,000, and then fail to give it the necessary operating money to insure a good start.

That would be like building a fine new home with excellent heating equipment but refusing to arrange for any fuel.

A good hospital means a definite asset to any community. It is comparably as important as other public facilities such as police, fire protection and even improvements in schools. It means protection to your health, your life and your family.

For that reason it promotes added value to your home owned property.

It is deemed better by those in authority for the hospital here to have a guaranteed income until it gets on its feet, rather than having an annual drive for volunteer contributions. It would be less costly to most individuals. More people would thus be paying a share than to depend entirely on volunteer donations from a few.

Hospital authorities say that it usually requires about three years for a new hospital to get satisfactorily "set" and be in a position to prove itself. It must win public confidence. It should be made clear that this institution can offer the public as good service as any other hospital.

The board which will direct the destinies of the new Fayette County Memorial Hospital asserts that it intends to see that the institution here is competently staffed and adequately supplied with everything necessary to meet the promises made to the public, namely, that Fayette County will have as good a small city hospital as can be found anywhere in the state. The board guarantees that no money will be wasted.

It must be remembered that a new hospital requires a full staff, even if not more than a third of its beds are occupied.

If it gives the best of service, it will gain until it is up to capacity. That has been the history of other hospitals all over the country.

There is no reason why Fayette County cannot meet the same problems and solve them, as has other counties this size.

To do this, the one mill levy must pass with a vote of 65 percent of the total vote on this issue.

The levy is not marked on the ballot for hospital purposes. Legally it cannot be so marked. It will appear on the large Questions and Issues ballot simply as a one mill levy for county expense purposes. The county commissioners, by resolution, have pledged that the entire revenue from this levy will be held strictly for hospital purposes.

If you favor this levy, get a sample ballot from the committee in charge of this campaign, or from a member of the hospital board. It will plainly indicate how to mark your ballot when you vote on November 8.

This is an issue toward which we cannot afford to be "penny wise and pound foolish."

Let's give the new hospital the chance it deserves. As soon as it begins operations it is OUR hospital. There will be no outside control.

All That Goes On Must Come Off

NEW YORK — (AP) — Gaining weight with many women is a matter of self-indulgence—and losing it is a matter of self-torture.

But with Fan Syskind putting on pounds and then taking them off is a matter of business. She is paid to do it.

Miss Syskind, a pretty, dark-eyed girl with a fine background and a splendid foreground, has one of the oddest jobs in an odd civilization. She is a human guinea pig for the mechanical massage industry.

"It is my job to test the reducing equipment," she said as we sat in an anteroom of one of the MacLevy Slenderizing Salons where she acts also as gym supervisor.

"Three or four times a year I put on as much weight as I can, and then take it off with massage rollers."

"We have machines for every place you want to reduce—calves, hips, arms, back, waist or thighs. I test each machine by taking weight off myself."

She keeps an elaborate chart during the whole process—showing the changes in her own measurements as she builds her weight up, then takes it off.

We went into the gym, which was full of strange instruments and resembled a medieval torture chamber. There were two fat lady customers present. One was bent over a machine that kept thumping her in the stomach mildly with a series of wooden rollers.

The second fat lady was harnessed in a gadget that kept rolling several tightly clamped elastic wire strings up and down her thighs.

"Does it tickle?" I asked.

"Oh, no, indeed," she said. "It feels rather good."

I took her word for it. Both plump ladies looked with a sign of envy at shapely Miss Syskind, whose weight is now in the downward cycle. She explained that the most she had ever got her weight up to was 126 pounds, but that now she was down to 108—and still losing.

"I can put on as much as twelve pounds in four weeks by eating candy and starched things like spaghetti, noodles and mashed potatoes," she said. "When I'm gaining I always go to bed with a full stomach and get lots of sleep."

This system is harder on her husband than it is on her.

"He really doesn't like me to gain—he wants me to stay slim," she smiled. "But he knows it's my job."

"And he doesn't suffer from it. He's underweight himself. He gets everything fattening to eat and has beer at every meal—and still he doesn't put on an ounce."

One aspect of Fay's job might make it attractive to many women. She finds it necessary to maintain two complete wardrobes—one for the upsurge, one for the downturn.

"The advantage of mechanical massage," she said, "is that it enables women to remove fat from any part of the body they desire. It gives them control over their physical contours."

The trouble with having to test different reducing machines, however, is that sometimes Fay may be required to slim her calves to Betty Grable size while leaving her hips in a Venus De Milo proportion.

"But this is only temporary," she said. "As soon as I have completed the test, I let me get back into shape all over."

All the patrons of slenderizing salons today aren't merely anxious to melt away blubber.

"In case it interests you," she said, "we can build up the bust, too. Many women now are interested in that."

Cost of Paying Vets' Way, High

By George E. Sokolsky

One of the most terrifying costs of war is the price we have to pay for having veterans. This problem must be viewed objectively because a nation can only afford to expend what the productivity of its total labor will permit it to expend. The assumption that a government can spend without limit is wholly false and is usually the vehicle upon which the demagogue rides to power to the detriment of the people. The trouble is that they usually discover it too late.

Since 1946, the United States has expended $34,617,000,000 on its veterans. These costs, which include the estimates for 1949 and 1950, already covered by acts of Congress, include "... compensation and pensions, medical and related costs, schools and rehabilitation, readjustment allowances, and insurance ..."

A government can only be as generous as it can afford to be. No government can afford to be a good guy, throwing its wealth around like a third generation American millionaire, whose progeny has little left but the memory of an ancestor who worked underground in a mine and became the president of the corporation that owned it. Profligacy is a misery no matter who practices it, and a profligate government becomes a menace to its citizens. The current administration in Washington is profligate.

For instance in the matter of hospitalization and home care, the United States spends more than $700,000,000,000 on veterans.

"... Although this benefit was originally offered to veterans for disabilities incurred in service, at present 80 per cent of all individuals hospitalized by the Veterans Administration have disabilities and illnesses in no way connected with their military service." This cost, by multiplication and profligacy, be made to include pretty close to the total population of the United States, for obviously with 11,000,000 Americans in the armed forces, nearly anyone can directly or indirectly associate himself or, for that matter, herself, with a veteran.

The final effect of such extravagance can only be a cost as a burden some that those who actually need the care will not have it. That would not only be poor administration but unconscionable cruelty.

The $3,000,000,000 bonus, which is to be paid in 1950, is altogether unjustified. The device that is being used to avoid the word, bonus, is that this is an insurance dividend or rebate. It is nothing of the sort. It is money paid out of taxes the same as any other bonus or subsidy and is to be used in an election year when its greatest benefit will be for those who are running for office and who voted for the handout. The money will not be of particular advantage to those who get it. It will be a prolonged load upon the whole American people.

Veterans are citizens and this

Diet and Health Warts on the Feet Hard To Remove

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WARTS on the soles of the feet are known as plantar warts. They are unlike all other warts in that they are always painful and, occasionally, disabling.

They are also very difficult to eliminate permanently. Sometimes they seem to subside of themselves, only to recur later, and no matter what method is used in their elimination, there is always a tendency for them to come back.

Doctors recognize a number of varieties of such warts, the most common of which is yellowish or grayish in color, with a soft, black-dotted center surrounded by hard tissue.

In other instances a number of warts may be present. There is also a variety of warts known as infective warts, which are not especially painful and which usually appear suddenly. In some cases, there is one large ordinary type wart, surrounded by several small, blister-like warts.

Second Toe

The warts commonly appear on the parts of the sole which are subjected to pressure. This may be back of the second toe, back of the first toe, on the surface of the large toe, or on the heel.

In removing these warts, every effort must be made to prevent the development of scar tissue, because scars in the areas where the warts were located may be permanently painful.

One of the most successful treatments is by X-ray. More cures are produced by this method with less inconvenience to the patient than with any other method. If an overdose of X-ray should occur, death of the tissues would take place, producing a great deal of difficulty. The patient should not be treated with X-ray if he has received X-ray treatments previously unless the exact amount of X-ray he has received is known.

If the wart should recur after X-ray treatment, it may be scraped out after the patient has been put to sleep with an anesthetic, or it may be burned out with the electric cautery.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. E. A.: What would cause my ankles to swell before and during my menstrual periods?

Answer: The swelling is probably due to some local disturbance of the circulation. Massage and exercise may be of some help.

You should consult your physician concerning such drugs as may be used to improve your circulation.

is their country as much as it is the country of veterans' parents and children. Certainly men who have no desire to see it reduced risk so much for their country to the present status of Great Britain or Spain because its treasury is constantly being raided and its wealth dissipated. The time to think about that is now when we can still protect ourselves. After World War III, it may not be necessary to think about it. It may be too late.

Senator Has Job He Can't Escape

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 —(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) said today it's easy to become a trustee for the United Mine Workers pension fund but it's proving hard to drop the assignment. The New Hampshire Senator, who announced in August that he intended to quit the three-man board, told a reporter that it may take a court order or a new coal contract to get him out of office. "You just can't walk out on this job," he said. "You've got to have an independent audit of the penand a release of personal responsibility or the coal operators and the miners have to agree on a new set of trustees." Bridges didn't say so, but he evidently hopes that when John L. Lewis, the United Mine Workers chieftain, finally gets together with the coal mine owners they can agree on a new board.

Prizes Are Offered For Homemade Devices

Prizes are being offered for the best home-made skidding, loading and other logging devices placed on exhibit at the two-day logging and sawmill equipment show at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, October 25 and 26, according to Forest Dean, extension forester at Ohio State University. Since emphasis of the show is being placed on harvesting forest crops from farm woods, Ohio farmers and small sawmill operators are encouraged by Dean to enter their gadgets, devices and logging devices. Three agricultural engineers will judge the exhibits and cash prizes will be awarded the three most practical entries. Anyone desiring to participate may do so by contacting his county agricultural agent.

Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority Has Guest Speaker at Meeting

Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma was entertained at the handsome home of Miss Kathleen Davis on Monday evening, and the assisting hostesses were Mrs. Elton B. Elliott and Mrs. Deris Dick.

Miss Marjorie Evans, president of the chapter, presided and conducted a short business meeting at which there were reports of various committees. The resignation of Mrs. Mary Chitty, an associate member was received with regret. It was voted to send a Christmas candy treat to Miss Nita Gullick's school of 250 children and six teachers in Nottingham, England, and Mrs. Doris Dick was named as the chairman of the committee on overseas shipment. Miss Ruth Stecher, delegate to the NEA convention at Boston in July, distributed interesting typed reports of the three days' meeting.

Miss Amelia Pensyl, program chairman of the evening, presented Mrs. N. M. Reiff, who talked on Compulsory Health Insurance, a proposed bill before Congress known as "Socialized Medicine." The speaker said, in part: "Compulsory Health Insurance is un-American. Intelligent people do not want to borrow this system from countries in which it already has failed. Our country is strong enough today to keep these same countries in existence."

"It has been estimated that this system would require 1,000,000 employees to enforce it, and the cost would be too great for even inferior care. A cut would have to be made in supplies such as drugs and efficient help. The people would "pay," financially, physically, and eventually, morally. It is each person's duty to vote to investigate each candidate's ideals and beliefs so that we may be sure that true Americans will rule in our government.

"I often have wondered why those who advocate bettering our country in such a way, cannot be forced back to live in those countries which they think so much greater than our free American way."

Sorority Members Honor Children At Halloween Party

Members of Gradale Sorority entertained with a gay Halloween party Monday evening at the Record-Herald club rooms honoring children of the members. The rooms were decorated with ghosts, witches and pumpkins for the gala event, and the thirty-two children honored all came masked, the youngest the six weeks old son of Mrs. Charles Shaper who wore a clever costume.

The children formed a line for a parade around the rooms and the judges, Mrs. Robert Creamer, Mrs. Ferrell Smith and Miss Joan Crouse, after much deliberation awarded first prize to Patricia McCoy, who was dressed as Jim Crow. The most original costume worn by Sharon Hoskins, claimed second prize; the prettiest as a ballerina was won by Sandy Sanderson; the cutest was Chuckie McCoy as a bunny and the ugliest was Buddy Lynch in a cowboy suit.

Later the children drew lovely favors from a fish pond and light refreshments suggestive of Halloween were served.

Mrs. Willis Coffman and Mrs. Will G. Braun were in charge of arrangements for the party.

The next meeting on November 4 will be held at the Record-Herald club rooms and the committee will be made up of Mrs. Charles Simpson, Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., Mrs. Charles James and Mrs. Charles McCoy.

Club Members Hold Meeting

The members of the Big Four Mysterious Fifteen Club, met at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Roberts Monday evening for the regular October meeting. Clever Halloween decorations used by the hostess to decorate the rooms were greatly admired by the members.

The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Richard Park and roll call was responded to by naming a household hint.

The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mac Smith gave reports which were accepted and various subjects of interest were discussed. Plans were made to adopt a shut-in in the community. Mrs. Richard Park and Mrs. Thomas Stultz were appointed to visit the shut-in chosen by the members. A pleasant social hour followed during which the hostess provided contests and prizes, in these went to Mrs. Stultz and Mrs. Smith. The serving of appetizing Halloween refreshments and informal visiting were enjoyed during the social hour. Mrs. Gerald Henry will be hostess for the next meeting on November 21.

Mr. Thad S. Kerr has returned to his home in Chicago, Ill., after a week's visit with his sister, Mrs. W. O. Beatty and Mr. Beatty.

New Look For Men Unveiled in Paris; Vári-Colored, too

PARIS, —(AP)—Plunging purple neckline and all—the new look for men has been unveiled in Paris. It's all because tailor Gaston Walternier believes man today is in a state of "festimentary inferiority." Walternier showed an audience of 500 what he would do about it.

Four young men from the conservatory of dramatic arts-- there were no male fashion models to be had--turned and walked about to show 16 such confidence-boosting ensembles as:

A black shi outfit, with red paley scarf and green-laced boots; Giner-length coats; Alligator skin shoes with inch-high crepe soles; A purplish prune-colored dinner jacket with "plunging neckline-- plunging to the middle of the stomach.

An equally prune-hued tailcoat, with opera cape of lighter purple sporting an elaborate antique silver chain clasp.
A sample comment came from a British reporter (who wore a poison green tweed jacket, non-matching slacks, grey pullover and red and blue necktie hanging outside):
"If I'd known what was coming I'd have worn my dungarees."

U. S. INDUSTRY AND AGRICULTURE SEE BOOM IN EARNINGS AFTER POUND DEVALUATION

By JAY RICHTER
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Offhand, it looks crazy for American industry and agriculture to go along with the view that a cheaper British pound eventually means dollar earnings for United States farmers and businessmen.

The admitted immediate purpose of devaluation is to give the British competitive advantages. Yet, there have been few outcries from American producers. This fact has puzzled British observers. One of them told me, in London, before the American reaction was clear:

"Now I suppose your chaps will blast us for trying to 'flood American markets with cheap goods.'" He couldn't have been more wrong, or pleased that he was.

In the view of British and American money experts, United States industry and agriculture are exhibiting a high degree of statesmanship that should finally pay off. The argument boils down to the proposition that a prosperous Britain means a more prosperous America. It's explained about like this:

That devaluation—by increasing British sales and decreasing purchases in the United States—will ease Britain's present dollar famine.

ONCE Britain has more dollars, she will import from this country more of the United States products she took "in the good old day." For example—raw cotton, tobacco, and fruits. In short, that devaluation will make it easier for Britain to sell what she has and to buy what she hasn't.

That is the theory. Nobody contends that there is a 100 per cent certainty of its working out, or that all industries will benefit if it does. Money maneuvers, like military deployment, involve calculated risks. American business leaders who know the score know that it is a gamble.

American officials in London estimate that the British dollar gap could be closed if the United States would buy $1 billion worth of goods annually from the United Kingdom. Present rate of United States purchase is about $300 million yearly.

The pound, formerly worth $4.03, now brings only $2.80. That means the British can sell in this country for about one-third less, but that more goods must be sold per dollar earned. If devaluation is to pay off, Britain must sell at least 43 per cent more goods to us than formerly.

BRITISH TWEEDS, quality cotton goods, men's suiting, and automobiles, among other products, are expected to find expanded markets in America.

Devaluation could fail. Overvalued money cannot be sweated down to size without some inflation. If runaway inflation occurs, the cheapened pound will do more harm than good.

It is likely to do considerable damage if British labor unions insist upon higher wages, and they are granted by the socialist Labor party.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Cripps and company are trying to sell British labor on cheaper money as a weapon against unemployment. Privately, most Conservatives agree that devaluation had become necessary. But it wouldn't have been, they insist, if the Tory party had been in power.

Political effects of devaluation are unlikely to be felt before another election.

THE AVERAGE BRITON does not like devaluation, but puts up with it as a necessary evil. It means more exports and fewer imports; higher prices and lower purchasing power; probably harder work and less recreation.

Summed up, it is another dose of austerity of which the British already have had plenty.

The reaction of some Britons recalls the wry humor which greeted the late Adolf Hitler's bombs. A London columnist expressed it in a poem:

Here with a loaf of bread beneath the bough
Too poor for wine or books come let us sup,
And see how many slices I and Thou
Can put down, Love, before the price goes up.

A corner bookseller, reflecting the indomitable British spirit, used the sad news of devaluation to push sales. He posted a sign:

The cry goes up: "the pound goes down!"
And dearer is our daily bread
Beyond dull care; Just browse around
And find a book you haven't read.

Two B&O Trains Discontinued

Coal Strike Hits Railroad System

Two B. & O. passenger trains on the Newark Division, are to be discontinued at once as result of the coal strike.

Four other passenger trains, of the B. & O. also are to be discontinued, for the same reason, for the length of the strike.

The order is to become effective Tuesday, it was indicated.

The two trains on the local division are, westbound No. 235, due here at 4:40 A. M. from Newark and the other is east bound No. 236 due here at 12:30 A. M. from Cincinnati.

Others on the main line, are No. 61, 62, and also two on the Toledo division, No. 350 and 251.

B. and O. lines also were ordered to discontinue 17 other services not effecting this area, because of the dwindling coal supplies, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for the company said the Interstate Commerce Commission had ordered it, along with others having less than 25 days' supply of coal, to reduce operations of the coal burning engines 25 percent by 11:59 P. M. Tuesday.

It was estimated the reduction would put 1,000 persons out of work.

More Meat in Offing; So Are Lower Prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—(AP)—You may be able to buy a little more meat for a little less money next year.

The agriculture department predicted today that the 1950 supply may average 150 pounds for each consumer, compared with 147 this year and the record of 155 in 1947.

And abundant supplies of corn and other feed grains at favorable prices may result in moderately lower prices.

Almost all of the anticipated price reduction and most of the expected increase in supplies will be in pork.

The department predicted pork production may be 7 to 10 percent greater than this year. The 1950 spring pig crop also is expected to gain by at least 5 percent over last year.

Beef and veal production is expected to about equal this year's, with a strong demand for beef and an abundance of corn stimulating cattle feeding.

Bridegroom Flees As Wife Appears

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25—(AP)—A wedding reception at the home of Donald K. Klitzke's bride was going fine until Mrs. Suzanne Brickham, 28, walked in.

Klitzke took one look at her and departed.

Police caught him yesterday on a charge of bigamy filed by Mrs. Erickham. She said that Klitzke, under the name of Donald Brickham, married her 18 months ago.

Klitzke, 25, is wanted for parole violation in Wisconsin, police said.

Drivers Urged To Ready Cars

Greater Dangers In Winter Weather

With earlier hours of darkness signalling the approach of winter, motorists were reminded Tuesday by T. J. Kauer, director of the Ohio Department of Highways, to put their motor vehicles in readiness for the dangerous winter months.

"All of us who drive are noticing the heavier demands being made on our electrical equipment," he pointed out. "We should have our lights, battery and heater inspected to be sure they're in good condition for bad weather."

The principal causes for high winter accident rates are poor visibility and inadequate traction.

"To maintain visibility," Kauer emphasized, "the motorists must, in addition to having good lights, be certain that his windshield wipers and defrosters are working properly. You must see a hazard to avoid it."

Good brakes and good common sense were recommended as aids

Weapons Test Plan Approved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—(AP)—Amid hush-hush secrecy, Congress has approved a $30,000,000 start on a program to test fantastic weapons for future warfare.

The funds as well as a separate compromise measure authorizing them were pushed through both the Senate and House last week with almost no discussion or debate.

They await expected presidential approval and would start a program of building wind tunnels to test:

1. Models for guided missiles which experts hope to be able to send from this to other countries, possibly armed with atomic warheads.
2. Aircraft able to carry atomic bombs while traveling at and above the speed of sound and capable of defense against similar enemy aircraft.

These details are available from earlier congressional attempts to push through the so-called "wind tunnel" bill, authorizing funds to build new laboratories for testing death-dealing weapons of the future.

Speed-up Is Planned
For Hoover Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—(AP)—Sponsors of Herbert Hoover's program to reorganize the government — and save the taxpayers $4,000,000,000 a year — took a new tack today to get speedier sailing in Congress.

They reported that many of the government reform bills which

Songfest Set For Thursday

Music Appreciation
At Mrs. Wipert's Home

Plans for a varied program of music were in the making today as the songfest for Thursday evening drew near.

Held at the home of Mrs. Roy Wipert, on the Wilmington Road, attendance at the songfests has trebled in just a couple of meetings.

Fifty people—all ages, occupations, and educational backgrounds—gathered at the last session and enjoyed many different types of music.

In an atmosphere of spontaneity, tions adopted, out of 318 proposed. Six of President Truman's merger plans now in effect; one vetoed by Congress; more to come. Savings of possibly $1,250,000,000 a year now in sight.

Net achievement: about 20 per cent of the Hoover plan now is in effect or authorized.

the music selected by group members ranged from barbershop quartets to foreign folk songs. Hymns, spirituals and songs sentimental in nature were also popular.

The group of songfests, without a label for their music meetings, welcome newcomers to their midst.

If you like music, you've passed the requirements for being present. There's no initiation, no fee and you men don't have to wear your hair long.

If you desire more information, Mrs. Wipert's phone number is 4-2317.

Her home is set back from the road, the first house on the right, beyond Rattlesnake Creek bridge, on the CCC Highway to Sabina. It's eight miles from Washington C. H.

The house will be lit up about 7:30 P. M. Thursday to guide newcomers, said Mrs. Wipert.

Bloomington High School at 8:15 P. M. Wednesday.

Included in the cast are Elizabeth Iden, Grace Robson, Bobbie Morris, Helen Penwell, Wilma Brown, Merle Lawson, Anna May Cickner, Norma Looker, Ronald Thompson, Barbara McDonald and Gerald Butcher.

The main action of "Lights Out" takes place in the old Stilwell Mansion, deserted since the death of Albert Stilwell.

Heiress Agnes Harwood and her daughter arrive at the mansion. Later comes a Los Angeles detective story writer, Neil Parker. A group of weekend guests then arrives, each one of whom has an unusual reason for being at the mansion.

A mysterious letter, a strange, deep voice and a pretty girl who is kidnapped, combine to keep the plot suspenseful.

Elizabeth Iden portrays Agnes Harwood—impractical and flighty. Grace Robson plays Doris—only twenty, but level-headed. Neil Parker, the writer and boyfriend of Doris, is played by Norman Looker.

Barbara McDonald and Gerald Butcher carry the comedy in the play, which will be staged in the high school auditorium.

New Policy On Seed Testing Is Announced

Farmers who expect to use the testing services of the State Seed Laboratory in Columbus, on field or vegetable seed intended for planting next spring, are urged to submit their seed samples immediately to insure prompt reports of analysis.

A new policy, on the order of handling of farmer's seed and official seed samples by the state laboratory, has been initiated by H. S. Foust, Director of Agriculture, in accordance with authority provided by the new Ohio Seed Law, effective September 9, 1949. The new program provides that seed samples, submitted from any source, for testing between May 1 and December 1, of any year, will be analyzed in the order in which they are received. During the remainder of each year official samples of commercial seed are to be given preference in the order of testing.

The new plan, furthermore, establishes limitations on the number of unofficial samples of various classifications of seed which will be tested free. For example, two unofficial samples of seed such as red clover, sweet clover, alfalfa, alsike, etc., or one sample of seed such as red top, blue grass, fescue, etc., will be analyzed for purity, and for germination if requested, free of charge, or three germination tests will be made gratis on any kinds of seed submitted.

The principle purpose of the new seed law is to protect the buying public. This means that an alert seed inspection service is indispensable if the buyer is to receive the maximum protection possible. If enforcement of this new law is to function efficiently, official samples of commercial seed collected by state seed inspectors must be handled promptly in the laboratory.

Texas Eastern Earnings Given

Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., "big inch" natural gas pipeline operator, earned $1,769,757 or 38.5 cents per share in the third quarter of 1949, according to a quarterly income statement released by the company to all stockholders.

This compares with 1948 third quarter earnings of $1,380,364 or 30 cents per share. For the nine months ended September 30, 1949, the company reported earnings amounting to $5,135,060, or $1.12 per share, compared with $3,660,176, or 79.5 cents per share for the comparable nine months in 1948.

For the 12 months period ending September 30, 1949, earnings amounted to $6,908,027, or $1.50 per share, compared to $4,347,656, or 94.5 cents per share, in the period ended September 30, 1948. Texas Eastern owns and operates the three big gas lines crossing Fayette County.

PUBLIC FORUM

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Record-Herald.

I have read several articles of late in your paper in which the board of the Fayette County Hospital is urging the people of the county to support a levy at the election in November. Said levy is supposed to pay for odds and ends of furnishings and equipment for the new hospital and to provide funds to make up any deficit in operating the hospital for the first three years etc.

The purpose of this letter is not to take issue with the hospital board over either of these anticipated needs of the institution except to raise the question as to whether these needs, to a large extent, could not be financed out of present revenue.

The Fayette County commissioners now have a contract in force with the hospitals of Columbus to care for their indigent cases at a rate of $13 per patient days care. This charge is being paid out of present revenues. Why then can't they continue to pay for this type of care to our own Fayette County Hospital at the same rate and thus be taking care of anticipated deficits out of present revenues? It certainly is not going to cost any $13 per day to care for these people in our own hospital because costs will not be as high all along the line in a rural community as they are in Columbus. Labor and food costs will be less.

Our hospital, with good management, should after a reasonable length of time be entirely self supporting. It may require a little time to get everyone weaned away from the hospital he has been using and to build up the patient load to the place where it will carry the overhead but it can be done. Any good hospital should be paying its own way in times like these and perhaps accumulating a little reserve against depression times.

The challenge I wish to throw out is this: The home owners of Fayette County are now paying taxes to retire bonds which were floated to build the hospital. Why should this same minority group be Santa Claus again and have to pay a tax to operate the hospital? I want to point out that people who are renting property to the city dweller can't raise his rents under government controls to offset this additional charge. Many of the farms of Fayette County are operated by tenants. The tenants in most instances make just as much off these farms as the landlord does. In many instances the tenants could own their own farms if they wanted to. They don't want to because they are convinced that they have a better deal the way it is. The other fellow has to pay the taxes and keep the property up out of his half of the income and the tenant really pockets more money from the farm operation than the land owner does. These tenants should be carrying their share of the community load.

Why, with all the available brains, in Fayette County hasn't the hospital board been able to devise some way of raising the funds, they claim to be necessary, by a wider spread of the load? This question is especially potent in as much as the segment of the population they are asking to pay this operation cost are already burdened with the obligation of paying the cost of erecting the hospital.

This hospital will benefit all alike then let everybody alike help maintain it!

If the hospital had an anticipatable need that could be defended why did they not make application to the Community Chest for an annual appropriation to meet that need? The Community Chest needs the hospital to strengthen its appeal and to justify its existence especially in the eyes of the rural residents of the county. It would seem from what has appeared in the newspapers that the hospital needs the Community Chest. Why can't these two groups get together?

It was demonstrated that there was enough volunteer workers in Fayette County, interested in the hospital, to put on a successful campaign to raise money for furnishing the institution. This same group, plus other interested citizens, can raise any additional amount of money needed for furnishings or any other defensible need. That is the way to do it—not through taxation.

I sincerely hope the voters of Fayette County will vote against any additional levy for the hospital on November 8 for the reasons above stated.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Only 2 Top Ten Teams Unbeaten In Ohio High School Football Race

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Oct. 25—(AP)—Stark County still boasts Ohio's No. 1 high school football team, despite Massillon's loss to Mansfield last week end.

The new leaders, named in the weekly Associated Press poll by the state's sportswriters and broadcasters, are Herman (Bup) Rearick's unbeaten-untilled Canton McKinley Bulldogs.

Bup's boys have won six straight, piling up 267 points to 12 for the foe—a record topped off by last week's 61-6 conquest of Steubenville's big red team.

Mansfield, nosed out in its opener by Akron South, but a whirlwind ever since, moved into the runner-up spot on the impetus of the 16-12 win over the Massillons, first for the Tigers in the 40-year rivalry.

Coach Chuck Mather's Massillon crew, despite the defeat, skidded no further than to third place, a notch ahead of Springfield's snarling Wildcats who dropped unbeaten Hamilton by 14 to 6. Hamilton dropped from third to eighth place in the poll.

Only two of the top ten teams, as rated by the writers, are unbeaten. They are McKinley, the leader, and the Lakewood crew coached by Tommy Ness, each with six wins.

Here's how the writers picked 'em, with the season records, giving votes, won, lost, points, opponent's points:

Canton McKinley	256	6	0	267	12
Mansfield	229	5	1	196	41
Massillon	200	5	1	257	42
Springfield	150	5	1	209	52
Lakewood	131	6	0	239	57
Toledo Libbey	140	4	2	71	50
Fremont Ross	132	5	1	263	53
Hamilton	125	4	1	182	55
Marion	103	5	1	139	48
Middletown	99	4	1	131	44

A late flurry of votes skidded Sandusky and Findlay, each with 92 votes, out of a 10th place tie with Middletown. Also getting ballots in the order of the finish, were: Sandusky, Findlay, Toledo

Of that group Cincinnati Purcell, Upper Arlington, Grandview, Circleville and Louisville have won six straight, along with Loudonville, Willard, Lockland, Wyoming, Milford, Reynoldsburg, Van Wert, Roseville and McDonald. University School of Cleveland has five straight.

Five-game winning streaks of Struthers, Findlay and Eaton, along with the perfect records of Massillon and Hamilton, came to an end last week end. Findlay fell 39-20 before Marion Harding; Struthers was a 21-13 victim of Salem, and Eaton was routed 33-6 by Tipp City. Salem has won two and tied one with Struthers since

Yearling from Fayette County Brings Top Price At Auction

A yearling thoroughbred from Fayette County brought the highest price at the auction sales at Keeneland race track at Lexington, Ky., last week.

The unnamed colt was consigned by Kermit Knox, whose little breeding establishment is just outside of Jeffersonville. He was bought by John Marsh of Chicago for $5,100 on the third day of the four-day sale. Marsh, whose primary interest is in racing rather than breeding runners, owns the colt's sire, Free-for-All.

The colt's dam, Plucky Kay, was bought at Keeneland in 1943 by Knox. Later she was taken to the Green Ridge Farm near Lexington and mated to Free-for-All. Knox described the youngsters as the perfect thoroughbred type... and just like a show horse in appearance.

Free-for-All, his sire is a son of Questionaire, also the great race horse and sire. With five wins, Free-for-All was unbeaten as a two-year-old. He won one race as a three-year-old before he broke down and retired as a sire after having earned more than $110,000 in purses. His first crop of colts are now yearlings.

In all 234 yearlings was consigned to the Keeneland sale this fall. The average price in the auction was about $1,400.

To Race in Florida
Knox said the wealthy Chicagoan told him he planned to have the colt broken in at Churchill Downs at Louisville and then shipped to Florida where he will probably make his racing debut as a two-year-old sometime next Jan. 1. If he develops according to expectations, he will be raced in Chicago next summer.

This and that: Bob Barrett, Bexley back, intercepted a pass and ran 100 yards for a touchdown, but Upper Arlington won its sixth straight by 27-6.

Louisville was only 45 seconds away from its first defeat, but half-back Jerry Gulling went five yards for a TD and end Bindley Thomas booted the extra point for a 7-6 win over Lisbon.

Bill (Boots) Burney of Youngstown Rayne's once-beaten team (7-6 by Struthers) came up with another 96-yard touchdown run as Youngstown Chaney was whipped 20-12.

Down at Ironton they're singing the praises of Johnny Shelton, injured junior halfback, and five-foot six-inch Jimmy Welch. Six points back of Columbus Central with about a minute to go, Shelton—with one arm dangling helplessly from a shoulder separation—caught a one-handed pass in the end zone to tie it. Welch, who had kicked only one extra point all

Knox said Marsh also told him his first choice for a name for the youngster was Fun-for-All. The name, however, must be submitted to the Jockey Club for approval and registration.

Knox and Tom James, who have several brood mares in partnership on the farm, have a yearling by Amphitheater out of Que Gee that they plan to keep and race. They expect to send him to Keeneland in February for training and hope to get him to the races in the middlewest, probably Chicago, next summer. They think so much of him they have placed a $10,000 price tag on him.

Que Gee is by Questionaire. Her dam was the consistent router, Gee Gee, owned and campaigned by Jess Hoppes several years ago. Que Gee showed speed in training but bowed a tendon before she ever had a chance to do much at the races.

Gee Gee died in a fire at Lexington where she had been sent for re-mating with Questionaire.

year, booted the all-important one as Ironton won 21-20.

Jimmy Lewis, Fremont's six-three sophomore who never carried the ball until a week ago when he made 165 yards and two touchdowns in nine jaunts against Sandusky, looks like a comer. Against Tiffin Columbian he rambled Friday for touchdowns on runs of 50, 44, 23, 7, 6 and 6 yards as Ross won 78-0. Hosea Sims of Fremont booted six kickoffs into Tiffin's end zone.

Paul Ludwig, Marion Harding's 6-3 fullback who weighs 190, did a one-man job in halting Findlay's five-game winning streak. He scored five of Marion's six touchdowns, one on a 92-yard kickoff return. The 192-pounder has cured his early-season fumbleitis, Coach Pete Howison hopes. Marion didn't give Findlay a chance, scoring three touchdowns in three minutes.

Cleveland Benedictine forfeited four victories last week when one of its players, a transfer student, was declared ineligible because of the semester rule.

Canton McKinley and Lakewood, only unbeaten teams in the Big Ten, clash Nov. 4 at Lakewood in a night game. The new state champ may emerge from that one.

Fullback Bob Sheets scored both Springfield touchdowns as the Wildcats avenged last year's 61-12 loss to Hamilton. A crowd of 12,733 saw Mansfield halt Massillon's 10-game winning streak, the Tigers' first loss since Alliance upset 'em last year.

Sandusky's George Kreimes scored both markers, the winner in the last two minutes, as the Blue Streaks won their fifth in six starts, 14-7, over Lorain. Guard Cal Hall of the Streaks was the defensive standout again.

The Mooseheart (Ill.) Red Ramblers, unbeaten in three seasons, will meet Sandusky Saturday night, and Moose Lodgemen from five states will attend.

Future Brightens For Buck Gridders

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25—(AP)—Coach Wesley Fesler of Ohio State scheduled another practice today after giving his gridders the day off yesterday.

Fesler indicated he was happiest yesterday of any Monday since the season started. The reason? Only one man was injured to any extent in last week's game against Wisconsin which the Bucks won 21-0. End Tom Watson suffered a sprained ankle and is not expected to be ready for the Northwestern clash here this weekend.

Changes Now Loom As Possible For All-American Backfield

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK, Oct. 25—(AP)—Four guesses, now, who's going to make the 1949 All-American backfield?

Three members of last year's honored quintet are trying to repeat—S. M. U.'s Doak Walker, North Carolina's Charlie Justice and Northwestern's Art Murokowski.

But none is a cinch for the 1949 nod. They're not dominating the season's touchdown parade. Other lads are running the ball just as far—even farther—and matching them with bull's eye passing.

This season's collection of talented backs seems to be one of the richest in several years.

Notre Dame is bidding with Emil (Seven Yard) Sitko. Army's unbeaten Cadets have an outstanding candidate in Arnold Galiffa.

Penn's Frank (Red) Bagnell is cutting all sorts of fancy capers with his passing and climax—running. San Francisco's 210-pound sophomore sensation, Ollie Matson, is expected to be ready for the Northwestern clash here this weekend.

Fesler's best news was that sophomore safety man Vic Janowicz, sidelined the last two Saturdays with an ankle separation, is expected to play this weekend. And halfback Pete Perini, center Jack Lininger and end Dick Schnitker also are expected to be in top shape.

At the weekly press and radio luncheon, Scout Gene Fekete reported on the Wildcats. "They've got possibilities of a great ball team," he said. "The spark is there but there's no one to touch it off."

Northwestern has been beaten by Pittsburgh (16-7), Minnesota (21-7) and Iowa (28-21), and defeated Michigan (21-20) and Purdue (20-6).

has pro coaches drooling.

The south is high on Tulane's Eddie Price. Boston University followers are running out of superlatives for Harry Agannis. Michigan's Chuck Ortmann, after a slow start, is coming into his own.

Meanwhile, the defending all-America stars are having their miseries.

Walker is bed-ridden with influenza and is missing important mid-season games. Justice is being stopped occasionally, as Louisiana State did last week, but he's still perhaps the nation's outstanding triple-threat. Murokowski has been playing second fiddle at Northwestern to a fellow named Gasper Perricone.

Notre Dame Still No. 1 in Grid Parade

Cubs Seek Third Win In Row at Circleville

The Lion Cubs will be gunning for their third straight victory Wednesday night when they take the field against Circleville. Coach Ron Guinn's boys will be out to avenge the shocking defeat handed them by Circleville at Gardner Park on October 10.

In that fray, the Cubs outstruck the junior Tiger team by a healthy margin, 11-0, yards to 16. The Cubs racked up 11 first downs to Circleville's 6. All this and they lost, 7-0.

The chief answer came in the seven disastrous fumbles made by the Cubs. The Cubs drove to the 2, 7 and 10-yard lines of Circleville and lost the ball on fumbles on two of those stripes.

In striking contrast, the deepest penetration of Circleville had been to the 24-yard line. Then, with a few minutes to go, a junior Tiger back broke loose for 25 yards to score the only TD of the game.

The Cubs have since whipped Greenfield McClain junior high by 20 to 6 and beat Wilmington last week by 14 to 6.

Cubs Improved Greatly
With an almost completely raw squad to open the season's competition, Guinn has brought his gridders around into fine shape.

A number of Cubs had never played football before, but you'd never believe it after seeing the way some of their plays are executed. The boys, helping them correct the boys, helping them correct playing flaws and even he said he was surprised at the great improvement.

Fraternal League Marked by Upsets

Things are looking up for the Record-Herald crew in the Fraternal League bowling. They won all three games from the high-flying Rotarians when they rolled their match Sunday, a day in advance because of a Rotary meeting Monday night.

The Universals, who have been having their troubles, set the Lions back in the last two games of their match Monday night after dropping the opener. And, they piled up a 2622 total for the high team series of the evening.

The Mt. Sterling Boosters came through with an upset when they took the first two games from the Elks and the Sabina Moose handed the Country Clubbers another surprise when they won the first and last games of their match.

Full Treatment Is Given Lions

Rugged Scrimmage Starts Week's Work

The Lions were given the full treatment in their workout Monday night in preparation for next Friday night's game at London. Their confidence shaken somewhat by their set-back last Friday night here at the hands of Wilmington's Hurricane, the Lions went through a rough and rugged scrimmage.

Coach Fred Pierson and Steve Lewis, who directs the backfield operations for the Lions, had little to say about the defeat by Wilmington. The boys on the team were similarly uncommunicative.

But, there was determination and fire in their manner Monday evening.

If they had a let-down last Friday when they were humbled by Wilmington because of over-confidence, it had given way to grimness by Monday evening.

Two wins in a row—from Greenfield and Portsmouth East—were not enough to carry them through against a vengeful Wilmington team, they found.

The Lions coaches impressed on the boys that they will find no push-over at London and that if they expect to win they will have to play heads-up football from start to finish.

London's team is still unbeaten and Scout Ron Guinn brought back the word that is a vastly improved outfit from the one the Lions whipped last year.

The Lions came out of the Wilmington game in good physical condition, Pierson said. The only crimp is Jim Aleshire. He is still nursing that bruised heel that admittedly slowed him up in the last two games.

Workouts against both the London offense and defense as charted by Scout Guinn are on the schedule for Tuesday and Wednesday sessions.

Relations Severed

Notre Dame Football Too Much for Tulane

CHICAGO, Oct. 25—(P)—Tulane, drubbed unmercifully 46-7 by Notre Dame, is the latest school to sever football relations with the South Bend Giant, top-ranking team in the nation and undefeated through 32 games.

With several opponents pulling out of the Notre Dame orbit, the old song and dance by Coach Frank Leahy not even being able to get a game with the Chicago Bears is being revived.

But the Irish insist that they have no scheduling woes. Ed "Moose" Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, says:

"There are plenty of good teams eager to play us. Our schedules are drawn up through 1952. In December when the Big 10 Conference makes its 1953 slate, we'll go to work on ours. We don't work on schedules during the season."

Tulane's decision to call it quits with the 1950 game, when its six-year contract expires, comes three weeks after a University of Washington regent said his school also is through with Notre Dame.

In five meetings with the Irish, Tulane scored only 19 points while being buried under 204. Washington, in a two-game series with the Irish was ripped 46-0 in 1948 and 27-7 last Oct. 1. In this season's game the Irish absorbed numerous major penalties. Leahy later blasted the officials after disclosure they had been alerted by movies of the Notre Dame-Washington 1948 clash.

Leahy said he expressed himself to protect his players from insinuations they played dirty ball. Another series that was allowed to die was the Notre Dame-Army rivalry which reached a crescendo in 1947 in New York. Officially, the games were "getting too big". There also were hints of personal animosity between the cadets' Coach Earl Blaik and Leahy, plus

Manager of Braves Gets In Oleo Row

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25—(P)—Billy Southworth, manager of the Boston Braves, yesterday gave yellow margarine a pat on the back.

Southworth, who in the off baseball season spends his time on a 125-acre farm near Sunbury, O. said:

"The thing that disturbs me is that the butter people, by pushing off the margarine mixing job on Ohio housewives, are alienating a great many consumers against agriculture."

"In the market place, as on the diamond, let's have keen competition and fair play between dark rumors of gamblers trying to muscle in.

Other corking good rivalries also seemed to pass over the boards. Northwestern wouldn't schedule the Irish in 1949, 1950 and 1951, grabbing instead inter-sectional battles with Army, Navy and U. C. L. A., but it is highly possible the two schools will again resume relations.

SYNOPSIS
Frances Phillips, who has been with her brother Ken, on overseas army duty, has placed his baby, Myles, in the care of her sister, Miss Jaffray. She meets Myles for the first time at a gay dinner party in a small Maine town where she is working for the summer. She is endeavoring to forget charming, well-born though weak Blake Sinclair, an old beau, but Blake is persistent, turns up at the Maine resort to again woo her. Gene, Frances' old school chum, has fallen in love with him and is unhappy. Fran avoids her guardian, Myles, until he tells her that he has a secret message from her brother Ken. They find a rock putting far out into the ocean, a quiet place well removed from possibly listening ears. Here, Myles tells Fran her brother has disappeared on a dangerous mission leaving her the message that she is to carry on. Myles tells her that she is to carry on. Myles tells her that she is to carry on.

CHAPTER TEN
THE ARTIST clutched Fran's sleeve as she was passing. "How's it going, Miss Phillips?" he demanded in a hoarse whisper. "You are Miss Phillips, aren't you? I met you when I came to look over the gallery, didn't I?"

"I am and you did, Mr. Eckhard. The exhibition is going over the top. They like you. They are saying that you have force, taste, integrity and a lot of other nice things you will see in the write-ups in tomorrow. The news cameramen are here. They want to snap you standing beside one of the pictures. Select 'Country Lane,' will you? I love it. Her warm approval lighted little lamps in his outsize eyes behind the owl-like lenses.

"No kidding? You have been so kind—making the tea so pretty—even since I began to paint I have wanted a tea like the big shots have—I'll give it to you," he declared eagerly. Fran laughed and shook her head.

"No, you won't give it to me. I think I can sell it. Hurry, the cameramen are waiting."

"What do you think you can sell and what did he want to give you?" inquired Myles Jaffray behind her. She turned almost into his arms, drew back.

"Sorry to appear to crowd you, but the Gallery is so full one can't move without pushing someone," he explained. "Had tea? I'll bet you haven't. Beat it to your office; I understand you have one, and I'll bring you a cup. It is part of my trustee job, I suppose, to see that you don't kill yourself with overwork."

"Can't I must stay here to answer questions about prices and take signatures on the dotted line."

"You won't succeed with that voice, no sales hypnotism in that. I intend to buy one of the paintings but not until you have had tea."

"Mean it?" she asked eagerly. She forgot who he was, forgot she disliked and distrusted him, remembered only that he was a possible prospect. "Buy it of me? No kidding?"

"No kidding. Go to your office and drink the tea I'll send you. In ten minutes I will knock on the door, you may return to the gallery and sell me a picture."

"Suppose Mr. Sargent misses me? He won't like it."

"I'll keep an eye on him. If he appears to be looking for you I will explain that I caught you as you were about to pass out from fatigue and hunger and persuaded you to stop for tea. Haven't had lunch, have you?"

"Now that you call it to my attention, I haven't."

"I thought you hadn't. Come on, I'll make sure you get to your office without being held up, then I'll go for the tea."

"Please in our time, it's blissful," Fran confided to the room at large as she sank into the chair behind the flat desk in the small office Mr. Sargent called hers. Her sandals felt several sizes too small. She slipped them off.

Someone was knocking on the door which opened into a cluttered room her boss called the repair shop.

"Come in."

The waiter with the Napoleonic profile entered with a large tray. "Your tea, Miss."

"How did you know I was here?"

"The tall gentleman in gray with the E. S. ribbon in his coat lapel said as how you would be in your office. Mrs. Digby showed me how to get here without going through where the company is. The door at the end of the clutter room, I'd call it, opens into the little hall opposite the door to her apartment, in case you'd like to know how I got here, Miss. Wouldn't you like me to draw up the small table in front of the easy chair, and set the tray on that? You'd be more comfortable, Miss."

"That is the chair Mr. Sargent occupies when he comes in to dictate. Set the tray on the desk in front of me, please."

"I hope I have brought what you like, Miss."

"Tea, lemon, sugar, sandwiches and cakes. You have thought of everything, Barth."

"Thank you, Miss. Leave the tray on the desk and I'll come back for it. The gentleman said to tell you not to worry, he'd let you know when the rest time was up."

Fran unseeing regarded the door he had closed behind him. Of course the gentleman who had sent him was Myles Jaffray. She had hoped he would bring the tea himself, it would have given her the chance to whisper, "Any news?"

Perhaps he had suspected the eager question and sidestepped because there was nothing to report. He had promised to tell her the moment he heard. She must trust to that and not pester him with questions.

"Skip it. Keep your imagination on leash," Myles Jaffray's voice sounded off in her memory. "When

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO
Proposing to amend section 7 of article IV of the constitution of the state of Ohio relative to probate courts.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1949, a proposition to amend section 7 of article IV of the constitution of the state of Ohio as follows:

ARTICLE IV
Sec. 7. There shall be established in each county, a probate court, which shall be a court of record, open at all times and holden by one or more judges as the general assembly may determine by law, elected by the electors of the county, who shall hold the office for the term of six years, and shall receive such compensation as shall be provided by law. Whenever ten per centum of the number of electors voting for governor at the next preceding election in any county having less than one thousand electors, shall petition the judge of the court of common pleas of any county, such petition shall be filed with the clerk of the court of common pleas, and shall be known as the court of common pleas in case a majority of the electors voting upon such question vote in favor of such combination. Notice of such election shall be given in the same manner for the election of county officers. Elections may be had in the same manner for the separation of such courts, when once combined.

SCHEDULE
If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposition shall adopt the same it shall become a part of the constitution of the state of Ohio, and existing section 7 of article IV of said constitution shall thereupon be repealed.

Space Given To Historical Society Here

County Commissioners Also Give Cabinet To Organization

Monday the county commissioners granted the Fayette County Historical Society permission to place display cases at vantage points in the corridors of the court house until the society obtains a building for a museum.

Request for permission was made by Harold Craig, president of the society, and B. E. Kelly, secretary of the organization, and the first case, a beautiful walnut bookcase in three sections, has been placed in the corridor south of the auditor's office.

At the same time the commissioners agreed to give a solid walnut filing case now in the county treasurer's office, to the historical society, when new steel filing cabinets are installed in the treasurer's office.

It was pointed out that there is room for several display cases in the corridors, at points where they will not be obtrusive and where they will be valuable additions to the equipment in the court house, particularly when tourists visit the court house.

For years a large solid walnut frame, with buckeyes carved on it, has been in the north corridor on the second floor of the court house, and it holds a large number of pictures of the memorable tornado which partly wrecked the city Sept. 8, 1885. This has always attracted much attention.

Officials of the historical society indicated that displays will be arranged in the cases later on.

The first case installed was one given by Jay Burnett, in memory of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Burnett, the latter having been Fayette County's foremost inventor and member of one of the county's oldest families.

Officers of the society expressed appreciation to the commissioners for the hearty cooperation in the worth while project.

Observe The Law Sheriff Urges

Sheriff Orland Hays said Tuesday that several extra patrol cars will be on duty throughout the county during Halloween, and will arrest all persons found violating the law by damaging or destroying property.

"I want people to have fun, but to obey the law in having it" is the way the sheriff sizes up the matter.

Sheriff Hays said that already too much damage has been done by grownups, as well as younger persons, and that the special deputies have been instructed to bring in and place in jail all law violators they find.

Risch Drug Store Has New Manager

Ralph H. Leist has been employed manager of the Risch Drug Store here, succeeding Wilbert J. Hall, who resigned recently preparatory to opening his own drug store on West Court Street in the near future.

Leist has been affiliated with the drug store business for six years, and comes here from Pataaskala where he was associated with his father in the drug business.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall will remain at the Risch store for the time being.

CASE NEARING END

The manslaughter case of Ohio against Clarence Wallace Dowler, charged with striking Elmo Bennett and causing his death last August 20, was nearing the end Tuesday afternoon.

Taking testimony was completed Tuesday forenoon after most of Monday had been devoted to hearing testimony, and arguments were made by both sides.

At 11 A. M. Judge Rankin dismissed the jury until 1 P. M. when he was to give his charge to the jury.

The jury in the case is the first all-male jury impaneled in the common pleas court here in recent years, it is understood.

JUDGMENT TAKEN

Harold Kneisley has taken judgment for $100.75 against R. E. Eridwell, on an installment note executed August 8, 1949. Robert E. Wright represents the plaintiff in the action.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Several Are Cited For Law Violations

A number of persons were cited in police court over the week end and Monday, for various offenses.

James Edward Payton, disturbing the peace, posted $50 bond.

James Richard Callender, city, posted $35 bond for appearance before Police Court Justice R. H. Sites, on a reckless operation charge.

Wilbur Theobald McDonald, on a disorderly charge, posted $50 bond.

Jennings M. Darbyshire, Sabina, for reckless operation, filed by a state highway patrolman, was fined $15 and costs by Police Court Justice Sites. He was clocked at 80 miles per hour by the arresting officer.

Sherman Robert Ryan, failing to stop at a stop street, drew $10 and costs.

Breeders Board Holds Conference

The meeting of the board of directors of the Central Ohio Breeding Association was held Monday afternoon at the Ohio State University and was attended by Preston Dray and Albert G. Cobb, associate county agent, of Fayette County.

Central Ohio Breeding Association now has 18,000 members. This year, they will pay 4 per cent interest on the stock purchased by the dairymen using the artificial breeding service. Dale Smith is the dairy technician for Fayette County.

The board of directors decided to limit the sale of stock to one share to each new member. The financial statement of the association shows that the finances are in excellent condition. The total assets are better than $200,000.

SPEAKING OF Furniture

By WENDELL BRIGGS

TELEVISION SET UP

If and when television comes to your home it will pose a new problem in furniture arrangement. The reason is obvious.

With radio your conversational groupings are closer together because "seeing" is not involved. In television the set must be a comfortable distance away. (This distance varies with different sets and screen sizes.)

One very attractive way to group your furniture is illustrated above. Note how it follows the pattern used in many homes where the fireplace is the center of interest. This set-up is ideal for video-viewing... but you no doubt can think of many others.

End tables and coffee tables will be much in demand in this type of arrangement because

County Engineer Quits To Take Job at Piqua

Engineer E. N. Leonard

The resignation of E. N. Leonard as Fayette County engineer is today in the hands of the county commissioners.

Asking that it be accepted effective November 7, 1949, Leonard said: "This resignation is made necessary by financial reasons alone."

"I am resigning to accept the position of City Engineer of Piqua, Ohio, at an annual salary of $5,000, which more nearly meets my financial needs."

Leonard was receiving $3,315 per year here.

Although Leonard said he submitted his resignation Monday, Auditor Ulric Acton said the commissioners had instructed him to delete it from the official minutes of the meeting. Acton also serves as secretary to the board of commissioners.

Just why the resignation was omitted from the minutes was not clear.

None of the commissioners could be reached immediately Tuesday for comment or explanation.

Leonard started here as county engineer on March 10, 1949, after serving for 12 years as county engineer of Gallia County.

During his seven-month stay here, Leonard had charge of work on which about $150,000 has been expended this year.

The major jobs of 1949 under Leonard included the asphalt paving of 40 miles of roadway; the replacement of the Dayton Avenue bridge, soon to be completed and the overall repairs and strengthening of the Yankeetown Road bridge, the last covered bridge in the county.

The Palmer Road plans, calling for 5.6 miles of paving, have also been processed. The new bridge on the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road was also completed after Leonard's arrival.

Leonard's new job at Piqua is to be quite different in nature, since Piqua is an industrial area.

Piqua, with a 1940 census population of over 16,000, operates its own waterworks, sewage disposal plant and municipal lighting system.

As city engineer, Leonard will have the following departments under him: engineering, street, water and sewage departments, the zoning commissioner, building inspector, commissioner of parks and the departments of electrical inspection and plumbing inspection.

Leonard is a member of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers and the Society of American Military Engineers. The latter is a select group, whose members are nominated and elected to membership on the basis of their engineering record.

Leonard has been a long time in his chosen field, serving four years with the U. S. Navy in World War I and two years, 1935 and 1936, with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. He worked on the canalization of the Ohio River in the 1936 period.

A member of the American Legion, VFW Masonic Lodge and Bloomingburg Lions, Leonard lived with his wife at the Rogers Park house on Danville Road, three miles from Bloomingburg.

The Leonards do not yet have a living-place in Piqua, although he looks forward to his new position, Leonard said he enjoyed very much his stay in Fayette County.

In concluding his letter of resignation, he said: "I have never worked with a finer or more cooperative group of county officials than I have with in Fayette County."

Man Wanted Here Is Apprehended

Charles Williamson, North High Street, Columbus, was taken into custody here by the police, who were on the lookout for Williamson on a warrant held by Sheriff Orland Hays, and turned him over to the sheriff.

Williamson had been wanted here for sometime for allegedly disposing of mortgaged property.

He was placed in the county jail to await arrangement on the charge.
